

How I Made My Hair Grow

Woman With Marvelously Beautiful Hair Gave Simple Home Prescription Which She Used With Most Remarkable Results

I was greatly troubled with dandruff and falling hair. I tried many advertised hair preparations and various prescriptions, but they all signally failed; many of them made my hair greasy so it was impossible to comb it or do it up properly. I think that many of the things I tried were positively injurious and from my own experience I cannot too strongly caution you against using preparations containing wood alcohol and other poisonous substances. I believe they injure the roots of the hair. After my long list of failures I finally found a simple prescription which I can unhesitatingly state is beyond doubt the most wonderful thing for the hair I have ever seen. Many of my friends have also used it, and obtained wonderful effects therefrom. It not only is a powerful stimulant to the growth of the hair and for restoring gray hair to its natural color, but it is equally good for itching dandruff, itching hair life and brilliancy, etc., and for the purpose of keeping the scalp in first-class condition. It also makes the hair easier to comb and arrange in nice form. I have a friend who used it two months and during that time it has not only stopped the falling of his hair but wonderfully increased its growth, but it practically restored all of his hair to its natural color. You can obtain the ingredients for making this wonderful preparation from almost any druggist. The prescription is as follows:

Buy 1/2 oz. Menthol Crystals, 1/2 oz. Bay Rum, 1/2 oz. Lavender Compound, 2 oz. If you like it perfumed add a few drops of To-Kalon Perfume, which mixes perfectly with the other ingredients. This, however, is not necessary.

Apply night and morning; rub thoroughly into the scalp. Go to your druggist and ask for an eight ounce bottle containing six ounces of Bay Rum, also one-half ounce of Menthol Crystals, and a two ounce bottle of Lavender Compound. Mix the ingredients yourself at your own home. Add the Menthol Crystals to the Bay Rum and then pour in the Lavender Compound and add the To-Kalon Perfume. Let it stand one-half hour and it is ready for use.

for Tucson during the grand lodge session has been changed from March 9 to March 10. All persons purchasing tickets should get a receipt from the purchasing agent and on arrival at Tucson present same to the grand keeper of records and seals so he can get the excursion rate.

Grand lodge will be in session two days, March 11 and 12. Phoenix lodge will have the representative at the grand lodge. Bro. C. W. Cliney, Alternate G. W. R. Kane; Bro. E. F. Bishop, Alternate Alfred Stratton. Many important matters will be discussed and determined on during the grand lodge session. One important matter is the reduction of the age water was scarce, but it was found that by digging a little below the surface they could find enough to satisfy thirst. But there was only one convenient way of getting the water out of these holes, and that was by sucking it through long reeds. This appealed to the American sense of humor, and Illinois was straightway nicknamed the "sucker state," and its people "suckers." The point of interest in this bit of history is in the reminder that Illinois was once, and for a long period, far behind Arizona today in ordinary conveniences and comforts of life. The baby state of the union is actually offering new homes under conditions that demand no such sacrifices and hardships as were called for in the older states during the period of their infancy. Modern machinery is at hand in every field and shop, and household conveniences keep abreast of the advanced demand.

"No man leaves his old home for a new one without good reasons for the change. Briefly expressed, he hopes for something better, and no doubt you came to Arizona for something better than Illinois offers. If not in all particulars, then in some which you regard as most important and necessary. The prairie schooners that stung out over our western plains in the early days bore as their most inspiring freight that hope which springs eternal in the human breast, and refuses to be defeat or disappointment. Another is the story told for them, as it ever will be told, is one of faith which only death can conquer. And you hoped for something better when you came here. Your hope was not destroyed in Illinois, but saw a broader horizon in Arizona. In simple terms, it is easy to describe that hope. It is a greater comfort, more reward for you, a better chance for all who desire it, and greater justice between men. This is a rather ambitious program, when it is considered in all its bearings, for the great effects must have causes in harmony. Effects can be dreamed of, imagined or hoped for, but the causes must operate before there is practical realization. So it is with the effects hoped for by the good people who leave their old homes and come here, no less than by those limit for membership from 21 to 18 years. A motion was passed stating that the sense of Phoenix Lodge No. 212 that the age limit for membership be 21 years.

Easter night for the children this year will be held on the first Friday night in April. A working committee was appointed: Bros. Tom M. Smith, chairman, Price and Lee. The committee will appreciate any suggestions any Knight has to offer regarding the entertainment of the children. Last year's success with its fish pond will be hard to equal, but the committee assures us of an even greater success than our last year's affair. The committee is deservingly of the aid of every Knight. Let us all pull together and give the little tots the time of their young lives.

Next Friday, March 14, the rank of page will be given to 35 new candidates. Will the Knights kindly spread the news among the membership that a surprise is in store for all who attend. The amplified form according to our new ritual will be given. Work will start promptly at 8 o'clock. Lodge will convene at 7:30 sharp. We have a candidate for all three ranks next Friday night. Rex Kane will be down from Ray and it will be necessary to get a dispensation so the candidate may receive all three ranks before he returns. The dispensation has been granted.

Bro. C. S. Norman of Grand Canyon Lodge No. 14 of Williams placed his dismissal card with us, and Bro. W. H. Schultz of Tallman Lodge No. 31 of Medford, Oregon, deposited his transfer card. First reading and committee of investigation were appointed.

Brother Wakefield, the lodge extends a vote of thanks for the cigars, and congratulates you upon becoming a benedict. May your future life be cheerful and prosperous. I might add a few complimentary remarks as given by the different Knights, but mine's the word; I am under oath. See me privately, Brother Wakefield.

As previously stated the lodge closed at 9 o'clock. The dancing, cards and music were enjoyed by all.

The drill team of the Pythian Sisters came in for their share of the popularity when considering that a team of sixteen sisters had never received any previous drilling the writer must confess that he was duly surprised in the graceful manner in which the team carried out its drill. Mrs. Ellis, the drillmaster, has good material to develop and the team has a competent leader. Each individual of the team could be mentioned for their good work but space is sparing. The cake that was raffled off to get funds to aid in defraying the expense of the robes for the team was won by Mrs. Wiley.

Don't forget the work in the rank of page next Friday night, March 11. C. L. MADDOX, C. C.

who have spent the better part of a lifetime in this state. There is no magic to operate, no miracle to be expected, independent of a well planned cause that goes to the foundation of things and forces the desired effects in the process of building. If you want the best there is in life for the taller you must provide yourselves with the best there is in the way of social, economic and industrial conditions. In other words, the one cause of the effects most desired is lodged in you, and depends upon your intelligent use of your power and privilege as citizens. Perhaps you did not have in the older states the full opportunity to govern causes and effect in this way, and that may have been one of the influences which led you to try another location. It should be encouraging to note that no such limitations are placed upon you in Arizona. You and other citizens can do just as you see fit. You can so shape conditions as to insure fair opportunities to all, and if you do this, the cause is put into full operation. The desired effects must follow.

"There can be no doubt, then, that in coming to Arizona you have come to greater opportunity, not only with reference to the mere performance of labor and production, but in the field of self-government. If you can make two blades of grass grow where but one grew for you in your old home, the extra blade is not going to be taken from you by any form of special privilege unless you deliberately create or tolerate that special privilege. Your welfare, so far as it is controlled by the square deal is entirely in your own hands. You can hold it or let go of it; you can have government machinery that will do your bidding, or you can, by neglecting the power so freely accorded you, permit it to become a government of a few for the benefit of a few.

"Such is your new home, industrially and politically. So far as the country has progressed in that direction, it is in the best sense the true American home. Sentiment justifies you in remembering the old home and pointing to it with pride, but you are Arizonians now, and thousands of other citizens extend you the hand of co-operation in the work of making this the greatest state in the union. I note with pleasure the evidences on your strength, intelligence and independence, and feel that it is a great honor to be your guest upon this occasion. In concluding with an expression of thanks for your courtesy, I can say that Arizona hopes to greet twice your number from Illinois before another year has passed."

Mr. A. C. Barthert, who it had been announced would talk on early Illinois, had been called out of the city and in his place Judge Phillips delivered a brief address. Next, there was the following original poem by a native son of Illinois and the poet laureate of Arizona—Andrew Downing:

The Old Home State—Illinois
The beautiful land that we came from
Is true to her prestige of old,
Like the tribe she borrowed her name from—

The blithe, able and bold
By the slow-moving "Father of Waters"

She smiles in the glow of her pride
As if she would woo back her daughters
And sons who have gone from her side.

Her vantage spots pleasingly vary—
What splendid, wide views they command!
What glories of woodland and prairie,
With summer abroad in the land!

Her daisies, like yellow stars sprinkle
The green of the hillside and lea;
Her crystal brooks tremble and tinkle
And leap in their race to the sea.

Her wealth is increasingly ample,
Her voting progressively leans.
And she is a lustrous expanse
Of what a great commonwealth means.

Her homes are the brightest and neatest,
Her men self-reliant and strong,
Her women the fairest and sweetest,
And life is a jubilant song.

Her past is a wonderful story
Of patience and courage subdued;
Her present, refulgent in glory,
Unmatched in the annals of time.

The great, newer west is her debtor,
Her influence widely extends;
There is only one land that is better,
And that's Arizona, my friends!

Mr. B. E. Marks read an original poem by Jessie A. Stafford, "Illinois, Virgin and Queen," which will appear later. This was followed by "Good-bye, Sweet Day," delightfully sung by D. W. Nichols.

The roll call followed after which there was an explanation of the hieroglyphics by H. R. Patrick. The program was concluded by the singing of Illinois by the assembled throng, led by Mrs. R. M. Tafel.

The picnic was concluded by the annual election of officers, resulting as follows: president, Dwight B. Heard; first vice president, Dr. H. H. Wilson; second vice president, W. L. Pinney; secretary, D. E. Marks; treasurer, R. H. Greene.

One of the most interesting features of the picnic was the sports program which was long and varied and an account of which with the names of the winners will appear later.

The crowd began leaving the picnic grounds about five o'clock, all feeling that they had had much more enjoyment than they had expected and the officers declared that the occasion had been successful beyond their expectations.

Six men were killed and six others were injured at Derry, Pa., when a sand train ran into a freight train. All of the victims were employees of stone quarries.
